He shall make requisitions for all articles needed in and about the premises, and receipt at once for articles received, according to forms prescribed by the Board, and shall certify to the correctness of all bills.

He shall examine all persons admitted into the institution, noting on the permit or mittimus such information as is important to preserve. He shall see that all inmates are properly cleansed and clothed upon their admission, and that thereafter they have a bath of the whole person at least once a week, and as much oftener as he may deem necessary. He shall be especially careful that all are treated with considerate care and kindness by those placed over them.

He shall enforce obedience on the part of the inmates, to the rules prescribed for them, and shall see that those able to perform labor are constantly employed. He shall have a register kept of all inmates admitted and discharged, and make monthly reports, according to forms prescribed by the Board, giving the number of all persons admitted or discharged, and when sentenced; the births and deaths at the institution; the punishments and the cause thereof, and such other information as may be necessary or worthy of remark. He shall see that the whole establishment exhibits throughout neatness, good order and cleanliness, and shall have the blankets, bed, furniture, locks, doors and cells examined every day, and see that they are in good condition. Whenever he discovers anything wrong, he shall note the number of the cell, with the offense committed, and report the same to the Superintendent immediately.

He shall inflict no corporal punishment without orders from the Superintendent, unless in the absence of that officer the discipline and safety of the institution should require it.

He shall see that the nurses faithfully discharge their duties, and shall report to the Superintendent any neglect or improper conduct on the part of any nurse or patient, and also give notice of all convalescents able to perform labor, so that they may be employed. The sustenance and diet of those in the hospital shall be regulated by him, through requisitions on the Superintendent, which must be in writing.

He shall not perform, or allow to be performed, any important surgical operation without having previously notified the Committee. Whenever he may deem it necessary or expedient to call a consultation of physicians, he shall give notice to the Superintendent; and shall make an annual report to the Superintendent, stating the number of prescriptions made, the nature of diseases treated, their termination, and his opinion of the causes which may have produced the sickness; also, any other facts, opinions, or suggestions of interest or information pertaining to his department. He shall visit all inmates who may be confined to cells for punishment and report their condition, and on his recommendation their punishment diet may be changed or mitigated.

She shall observe that due attention be paid to cleanliness in every respect, and by every officer, employee or inmate under her charge. She shall, under the direction of the Superintendent, see that the inmates are properly provided for and detailed to the several branches of labor, assigning to each such kind as, under the circumstances, she is best fitted to perform; and that the Assistant Matrons, and others employed under her direction, be faithful in the discharge of their several duties, and that they behave to those placed under their care with considerate kindness and humanity. She shall be vigilant over every part of the institution assigned to her charge, especially in regard to cleanliness and to daily ablution and the bathing of the whole person of each of the inmates as often as she shall deem it necessary.

She shall see that all female prisoners capable of working shall be employed when practicable, and she shall apply to the Superintendent in writing, from time to time as occasion may require, for such materials as may be requisite for the employment of those under her care, and the same may be delivered to her on her written order. She shall return once every week to the Superintendent all articles prepared or manufactured during the week, with a list of the same and their value, as nearly as can be ascertained by her.

[Duties of Assistant Matrons.]

SECTION 16. There shall be employed, from time to time, as many Assistant Matrons as may be found requisite and necessary for the institution, whose duties shall be assigned to them by the Superintendent.

Assistant Matrons shall be subject to the orders of the Matron, have charge of the halls and cells for female inmates, and take charge of all female inmates on their arrival; shall also see that they are thoroughly cleansed, and provided with the dress of the institution, and that the clothing which they

They shall see that they are properly dressed, as may be directed by the Matron, on being discharged, and that the cells, galleries and floors, the bedding and clothing for all the inmates are clean and in proper order, are not injured or destroyed, and that they are thoroughly repaired after having passed through the laundry. They shall be vigilant over every part of the institution assigned to their charge, especially in regard to cleanliness and to the daily ablutions and occasional bathing of the whole person of each of the female inmates, and shall do such other duties as may be directed by the Matron.

[Duties of Clerk and Storekeeper.]

He shall properly itemize and examine the calculations of, and if correct, sign all bills before being submitted to the Superintendent for his approval.

It shall be his duty to prepare in detail, for publication, the annual statement of the accounts of the institution, exhibiting the average monthly cost of the inmates, and the average monthly value of the labor and productions of the workshops, farms and grounds; and also prepare for publication the annual report of the Superintendent, the Matron, the Manufacturing Department, and the Farming and Gardening Department. Should he ascertain that any officer connected with the institution is keeping his or her accounts in such a manner as to prevent compliance with the above, he shall report immediately the fact to the Superintendent.

There shall be kept by the Clerk a book in which all reports of infractions of rules shall be entered, and said book shall remain in the Superintendent's office, open for the inspection of all public officers.

The Clerk shall also act as Storekeeper, and shall have charge of all stores and materials belonging to the institution, and shall deliver to the different departments such articles as are required for daily use or consumption, taking a receipt therefor. All requisitions must be signed by the Superintendent, Assistant or Matron.

[Duty of the Captain of the Guard.]

SECTION 18. The Captain of the Guard will, under the direction of the Superintendent, take the principal charge of the male inmates and all parts of the institution appropriated to them, both by day and night, and will see that all the subordinate officers and employees perform faithfully the duties assigned them. He will keep a daily journal of all infractions of the rules of the institution by his subordinate officers or by the inmates; also, the reproofs or punishments therefor. This journal shall also contain a statement of the casualties, and of any occurrence out of the usual order, and report in writing daily to the Superintendent. This journal shall always be open to the inspection of the Committee and Superintendent.

It will be his duty to be present and aid the Superintendent in receiving and discharging all inmates, to observe their condition when committed, see that they are properly registered, cleansed and clothed; see that the institution is clean, and all proper sanitary regulations are observed in and about the institution, workshops and grounds attached thereto. It will be his duty to employ his entire time in the general supervision of the subordinate officers, employees and inmates; direct them in their duties; receive reports from them of all disobedience or violation of the rules, and note the same upon his daily journal, and report to the Superintendent. He shall at all times exercise his authority, so far as relates to the discipline of the institution, the safe keeping of the inmates, and especially its police regulations. He will be held responsible to the Superintendent that the rules of the institution, and all orders and directions he may make in conformity therewith, are strictly and properly obeyed; and to enable him to fully perform every duty required, he must be present at all times (unless excused by the Superintendent), the better to observe a vigilant and faithful discharge of duty on the part of subordinate officers and employees. He shall, at least once each day, personally examine and inspect the arms and equipments of the Guard, and report each day any officer who may be found deficient in ammunition or whose guns are not in perfect order. He will not inflict punishment unless directed to do so by the Superintendent, or in case the safety of the institution should seem to demand it. He shall perform such other duties as the Superintendent may direct.

He shall take note of any breakages or damages and report them to the Assistant Superintendent, that they may be immediately entered on his daily journal, and thus come under the inspection of the Superintendent at the close of each day. He shall at all times have the guards on duty ready for inspection, so that the Assistant Superintendent may examine all arms and ammunition, and report their condition to the Superintendent.

They shall march their men to and from the cells in close order, and shall use their utmost endeavors to enforce non-intercourse and obedience to all the rules and regulations of the institution.

They shall not permit an inmate to pass the prescribed limits or pass out of their shop, except in charge of a proper officer; and they are constantly to keep in mind that it is required of them to prevent any inmate from making his or her escape.

They shall not allow the inmates to make any inquiries relative to any subject not immediately connected with their duty, employments or wants, or to speak to or gaze at visitors, but see that they are constantly employed, and that they labor diligently, in order and in silence.

They are not to hold any conversations with the inmates, except to instruct them in the rules necessary for their government, and whenever they refuse to obey orders or neglect to perform their duty shall report them to the Captain of the Guard for correction.

They shall not, while on duty in the shops or at any other post, sit down, on any pretext whatever. They shall be constantly on their feet and strictly and vigilantly observant of the inmates; provided, however, that the guard on night duty in the "Hall" may sit down for brief and irregular periods of time, after 9 o'clock P. M. and before daylight in the morning.

They shall keep a list of all the inmates under their charge, with the number of the cell each one occupies registered opposite his name; and upon locking up, morning, noon and night, shall note the absence of any inmate from his cell, if any, and immediately report the same to the Captain.

At least three-fourths of the officers and guards will be required to be present in the institution all the evening and night, and shall sleep in the dormitories provided for them.

Leave of absence during working hours will only be allowed in cases of sickness or other urgent necessity.

Officers and employees (except the Superintendent or Assistant) will not be allowed to board any member of their families at the House, unless such members of their families are employed at the institution.

Officers are privileged to have their friends (in limited numbers) shown about the establishment, by obtaining permission of the Superintendent or Assistant.

No officer or employee shall receive a gift from any inmate, though it be trivial and valueless, nor suffer an inmate to perform any personal offices or work from him or them, without permission from the Superintendent.

No officer or employee shall give anything whatever to the inmates as a gift, or buy or sell anything of or to them, or extend to them any favors of diet, of clothing, or of any other nature, not common to all; and in no case shall inmates be transferred from one department of labor to another, except with permission of the Superintendent.

They shall not punish or strike an inmate with a cane or a stick, or with the fist or feet, or any weapon, unless it be in self-defense or to quell an insurrection; nor shall they use any profane or indecorous language to them or in their presence, but shall uniformly treat them in a kind and humane manner.

They shall require from all the inmates the greatest possible cleanliness in their persons and clothing, and in their working and sleeping apartments.

The officers and employees shall maintain toward each other always when in the presence of inmates (and, it is to be hoped, in their absence), the deportment and language due from well-bred people to each other.

The male officers will not be permitted at any time to enter the Female Department or any portion thereof, unless directed so to do by the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent or Matron, except in conducting visitors through the institution.

No officer or employee will be allowed to leave the premises at any time without permission of the Superintendent, or, in his absence, of the Assistant Superintendent.

No spirituous or malt liquors are upon any occasion to be used by any officer in or about the institution, nor shall any person be suffered to bring the same within the walls, except for the Hospital, to be used as medicine, under the direction of the Superintendent or the Physician.

Persons visiting the institution, except members of the Board of Supervisors, must have a permit from the Mayor of the city, member of the Board of Supervisors or a Judge of the Courts, or have the assent of the Superintendent. Such visitors, unless accompanied by a member of the Board, shall not be allowed to go over any building or around the grounds without being accompanied by an officer, who, when the visit is completed, shall return them to the office. Visitors shall not be allowed any communication with the inmates, or to furnish them any articles except by permission of the Superintendent or a member of the Board of Supervisors.

All the rules and regulations required to be observed by the subordinate officers shall, so far as practicable, apply to and be observed by the Matron and her assistants, the Physician and teachers.

The Superintendent shall cause to be kept a book, with the names in regular rotation, of all employees entitled to leave of absence. He shall daily sign all passes for leave of absence, stating on the pass the time allowed off. Each employee shall present himself or herself, in person, to the Assistant Superintendent, or to such other person as may be detailed for that duty, for his or her pass, bringing with him or her all keys and arms belonging to the institution. They will be handed a check for articles thus delivered; and on their return they will immediately report to the same officer, who shall note the time and incidents of their arrival, and on presentation of their check have returned to them all articles the check calls for.

[Daily Routine of Duties in the Male Department.]

SECTION 22. At such time in the morning as the Superintendent shall designate, the bell will be struck three times for the inmates to rise, dress, put up their bedsteads, beds and bedding, and the bells will be rung at the same time for the officers, who will immediately repair to the guard-room.

At a signal from the Assistant the guards will take the keys and go to their respective divisions, and will take such positions in the hall as the Assistant may direct; where, by their presence and watchfulness, they will endeavor to prevent any communication between the inmates or other improper conduct by them, as they march out of their cells to wash and take their rations.

On hearing the next signal, the guards will unlock the cell doors, march the men to the wash-room, and then return them to their cells; and after they have received their rations, the guards will lock the doors and report to the Captain of the Guard the number of inmates in their division of cells.

If the number thus reported is correct, the Captain of the Guard will give the signal, when the guards, after depositing the keys in the case, will, without delay, go to their breakfast, except one, who will remain in the hall, and be relieved in turn. The officers will take their breakfast and return to the guard-room as soon as possible.

At the signal from the Captain of the Guard, the guards will take their stations, and the officers will enter the hall and assume their positions. Upon hearing another signal, the guards will unlock the cell doors and march the men to their respective places of labor, where the inmates will immediately commence work.

On reaching the place of employment, the guards will ascertain how many (if any) of the inmates are absent from their accustomed places, and will report them to the Captain of the Guard.

The inmates will be kept steadily at work until 12 o'clock m., when, at the prescribed signal, they will cease their work, form into a line and at the word forward, they will march to the "Hall" (taking their rations as they pass in, thence to their cells, and be immediately locked up.)

Each officer will then report the number of men in his division of the cells to the Captain of the Guard, who, upon finding the number correct, will give the signal, and the officers (outside guards included) will repair to the guard and dining-room, as in the morning.

The time allowed for dinner is one hour from the time the inmates cease labor until they resume it again.

At the appointed time after dinner, the inmates will be marched to their labor, in the same manner as in the morning, when they will remain employed until 6 o'clock P. M., in Summer or long days, and until sunset in short days, when they will be returned to their cells, as at noon.

Immediately after the inmates are locked in their cells for the night, the officer in the "Hall" will count them, by passing along the galleries and looking at the occupant of each cell, assuring himself that what he sees is a real living person.

No person shall be allowed in the "Hall" after the inmates are locked up.

The officer having dog-watch will enter upon it after tea, at which time all the officers will repair to the "Hall," await the signal, and proceed to their divisions, to return the ration-pans from the cells to the kitchen, when each inmate will close his door and be immediately locked up. They shall try the cell doors to be certain that they are locked up, and will draw the breach before making their reports to the Assistant. The dog-watch will continue until 7½ o'clock, at which time the Night Guard will enter upon his duties.

At such times as may be designated by the Superintendent, the Night Guard will strike the gong as a signal for the inmates to retire; and after waiting a reasonable time, he will pass along the galleries and see that the signal is obeyed, and he will not suffer inmates to arise and remain up in their cells during the night, except for necessary purposes.

He shall remain (in the morning) in the "Hall" until the proper officer shall come to relieve him.

[Register of Fire Limit Blocks.]

SECTION 2. It shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, or in the event that there shall be two Boards of Supervisors or Houses of Legislature for this City and County, of the Clerk or Secretary of that Board thereof, whose members may be elected for the term of four years, to register every block declared to be a fire limit block, and to notify the Chief Engineer and the Fire Marshal thereof.

[Construction of Buildings in the Fire Limits.]

SECTION 3. All buildings hereafter erected within the fire limits shall be made and constructed of brick or stone, and every building of brick or stone, or of both, that shall be newly roofed or covered shall be constructed with side-walls or party-walls of brick or stone, or of both, and such side-walls or party-walls shall extend from the foundation to the top of and through the roof of the building, and said roof shall be covered with such material as will afford protection against fire, and said walls shall be so constructed as to separate all woodwork thoroughly and completely, of the interior and exterior of such building, from all and every part of the interior and exterior of any adjoining building, and every such side-wall or party-wall shall pass through the roof of the building to which it may appertain, in such manner as to break entirely any communication of wood whatever between such roof and any other building. And all partition-walls shall also extend from the foundation, and through the roof, the same as side-walls or party-walls. The term building as used in this Section shall not include privies. The floors of all buildings shall be constructed to bear with safety upon each superficial foot of floor surface, 75 pounds; if used for the following purposes they shall be constructed to bear upon each superficial foot of floor surface as follows: For a place of public assembly, 120 pounds; for a flour store, mill, sugar refinery or store house, 500 pounds; for a warehouse for miscellaneous goods, 400 to 600 pounds; jewelry stores with safes, 300 pounds; tenement houses, 100 pounds; dry goods stores, 310 pounds; roofs, 50 pounds. These weights are to be exclusive of the weight of the floors and roof. The requisite dimensions of each piece of material is to be determined by computation by the rules given by Treadgold, Hodgkinson, Barlow or Trautwine, or the treatises of other authors now or hereafter to be used at the United States Academy at West Point, on the strength of material, using for constants in the rules only such numbers as have been deduced from experiments on materials of like kinds with that proposed to be used. And the safe load shall not exceed one-third of the breaking weight as determined by said rules. All gas, water, steam or other pipes which may be introduced into any building shall not be let into the beams at a greater distance than thirty-six inches from the ends of the beams, and then not to exceed one and one-half inches in depth for all beams of ten to twelve inches in depth, nor more than two inches for all beams of a greater depth; for beams less than ten inches the sinking must not exceed one inch in depth. The covering of all roofs of buildings within the fire limits shall be made and constructed of metal, or asphaltum covered with gravel, or some fire-proof composition, and all buildings now standing requiring re-roofing, in whole or in part, the covering of such roofs shall be made of asphaltum covered with gravel or some fire-proof material. All timber and lumber used in the construction and erection, or alterations or repairs to buildings, shall be sound and free from blemish.

[Foundation Walls.]

SECTION 4. All foundation walls shall be built of stone or brick, and shall be laid not less than four feet below the surface of the earth on a good solid bottom, and, in case the nature of the earth should require it, a bottom of driven piles or laid timbers of sufficient size and thickness shall be laid to prevent the walls from settling, the top of each pile or timber to be driven or laid below the water line. All piers or columns resting on the earth shall have footing courses equal to three times the thickness of said piers or columns, and shall have granite caps not less than ten (10) inches in thickness with level beds or iron caps of equal strength, the projections of the brick work not to exceed two (2) inches; every isolated pier less than ten (10) superficial feet at the base, and all piers supporting a wall built of brick or stone, or under any arch, girder or beam, supporting a wall, shall, at intervals of not less than thirty (30) inches in height, have a bondstone built in, to be not less than five inches in thickness by the full size of the pier and have level top and bottom beds.

[Footing or Bass Course under Foundations, etc.—Thickness of Foundation Wall—Damages to Contiguous Buildings.]

SECTION 5. The footing or base course under all foundation walls shall be of stone or brick, and shall not be less than twice the width of the bottom course of the foundation walls, each course of footings if formed with brick, shall not project more than two inches, and if formed with stone, the thickness of each course shall not be less than twelve inches, and shall not project more than six inches. If a wall be built upon isolated piers, there must be inverted arches at least twelve inches thick, turned under and between the piers, the spring of the arch not to be less than one-third of the span; or two footing courses of large, well-shaped stone, at least twelve (12) inches in thickness for each course and to project not more than six inches each. All foundation walls shall be at least four inches thicker than the wall next above them, to a depth of sixteen feet below the curb level as lawfully fixed, and shall be increased four inches in thickness for every additional five feet in depth below said sixteen feet. Foundation walls in dwelling houses shall be, below the basement floor beams, four inches thicker than the walls next above them. All foundation walls shall be understood to mean that portion of the wall below the level of the street curb, and depth shall be computed from the curb level downward. The depth of fourteen feet below said curb level of the street is hereby fixed as the standard depth of foundations for brick and stone buildings. Any persons excavating for or commencing foundations at a greater depth than the above standard shall be responsible for all damages to adjoining buildings, the foundations of which have been constructed at the standard depth. No person constructing foundation walls down to the standard depth shall be responsible for damages to contiguous buildings, the walls of which have not been constructed at the standard depth. •

[Defining outer walls of Brick, Stone or Frame Buildings.]

SECTION 6. The outer walls of brick, stone or frame buildings shall be the front, rear and two side walls. And in no case shall studding be allowed against brick walls. The outer walls of frame buildings shall be formed with studding, and covered with weather boarding on the outside, and in no case shall studding be allowed against the weather boarding of an adjoining building. For a building of one story in hight, the studding shall be of not less than two by four inch scantling; for a building two stories in hight the studding shall be of not less than 2 by 4 and 3 by 4 inch scantling alternately placed; for a building three stories in hight the studding shall be of not less than 6 by 2 inch scantling, and for a building of four stories in hight the studding shall be of not less than 6 by 3 inch scantling for a hight of two stories, and of 6 by 2 inch scantling for the hight of the third and fourth stories. The foundations or underpinning shall be formed with black butt redwood and the underpinning shall in all cases be not less than three inches in thickness by the full width of the studding. The joists shall rest upon the outside walls except where trimmed out for stairs or other openings. Should it be impracticable to rest the joists at each end on the outside walls, it shall be required to have the partition or girder upon which they may rest of equal bearing strength with the outside wall. When brick walls are used as a foundation for frame buildings they shall not be less than 8 inches in thickness for a one-story frame building, and for a building of not more than three stories in hight the foundation walls shall be not less than 12 inches in thickness, and for a building not to exceed five stories in hight the foundation walls shall be not less than 16 inches in thickness. If there are no cross walls there shall be piers of not less than 8 inches projection by a face or width of 2 feet 4 inches, built to strengthen the walls at distances not to exceed 16 feet apart. Where chimney breasts are carried out they shall be considered as piers. It is to be understood that the main longitudinal or bearing partitions are to be underpinned the same as the outside walls.

And no frame building or buildings now used as a dwelling house shall be hereafter altered or used as a factory, warehouse, or any other purpose except the same be altered to conform to the provisions of this Order.

For factories the studding for the outside walls shall be not less than 6 by 2 inches for a hight not to exceed 14 feet to the wall plates; for a hight exceeding 14 feet and not more than 18 feet the studding shall not be less than 6 by 3 inches; and for a hight not less than 18 feet and not more than 25 feet, the studding shall not be less than 8 by 3 inches, all to be properly braced and framed together.

[Distance Apart of Studs.]

For factories the studs shall be placed not to exceed two feet apart and shall be bridged and braced. For dwelling houses the studs shall not be more than 20 inches from centers, and shall be set upon the plates, upon which the joists rest where it is practicable.

[Thickness of Outer Walls of Dwellings, Stables and Sheds.]

SECTION 7. The outer walls of all buildings of either brick or stone, or of both, used or to be used as dwelling houses, stables, sheds or other outhouses shall, for a two-story building or less, be twelve inches thick for the first story and eight inches thick for the second story; provided, the hight of the first story shall not exceed in hight ten feet in the clear of the floor and ceiling; and the second story shall not exceed in hight eight feet in the clear of the floor and ceiling; the foundation or that portion below the level of the curb shall be at least sixteen inches in thickness. For a building of three stories or less, the foundation or that portion below the level of the curb shall be twenty inches in thickness, the first story sixteen inches in thickness, the second story twelve inches in thickness, the third story eight inches in thickness; the third story shall not exceed in hight eight feet in the clear of the floor and ceiling. The term dwelling-house shall not apply to buildings accommodating more than three families.

When brick work is used for deafening between partitions of frame work it shall be commenced on proper footings twelve inches below the surface of the ground upon which the building or buildings may rest, and shall not be less than one-half brick or four inches in thickness, and shall be solidly laid in good lime mortar, and the joints shall be smoothly struck at each side, and there shall be proper cross ties, not to exceed one and one-half inches in thickness by the full width of the studs placed at each half story in height, and they shall be securely spiked to the studs, which are in no instance to exceed two feet from centers.

The provisions of this Order relating to the erection, alterations, repairs or other changes made on brick or stone or brick and stone buildings shall apply to all parts of this city and county.

[Privies or Water Closets of Wood]

Constructed within the fire limits shall not exceed eight feet in height in the clear of the surface of the floor and ceiling line. For a hotel or lodging-house they shall not have more than fifty superficial feet of floor room, and for all other buildings they shall not have more than twenty-five superficial feet of floor room. The roof and the frame work shall be covered with some fire-proof materials, and they shall not be placed higher than the third story of any building, nor project over the line of any street, lane, alley or place, and they shall not be used for any other purpose.

[Sheds Defined.]

Sheds shall be understood to be open structures, enclosed only on one side and end, and erected on the ground. They shall not exceed twenty feet in height to the highest point of the roof, and if constructed within the fire limits, they shall not exceed fifteen feet in height to the highest point of the roof, and shall be covered with fire-proof materials. (As amended March 3d, 1884, by Order 1,760.)

[Thickness of Walls of Stores, Warehouses, Hotels, Lodging Houses, Shops, and Manufactories.]

SECTION 8. The outer walls of all buildings used or to be used for stores, warehouses, hotels, lodging-houses, shops and manufactories, for a one-story building the basement or foundation shall be sixteen inches in thickness, first story twelve inches in thickness. The outer walls of a two-story building the basement or foundation shall be sixteen inches in thickness, first story sixteen inches in thickness, second story twelve inches in thickness. The outer walls of a three-story building, the basement or foundation shall be twenty-one inches in thickness, first and second stories sixteen inches in thickness, the third story shall be twelve inches in thickness. The outer walls of a four-story building the basement or foundation shall be twenty-one inches in thickness, the first and second stories shall be sixteen inches in thickness; and the third and fourth stories shall be twelve inches in thickness. The outer walls of a five-story building the basement or foundation shall be two feet in thickness, the first story shall be twenty-one inches in thickness, second and third stories shall be sixteen inches in thickness, and the fourth and fifth stories shall be twelve inches in thickness. For a six-story building the basement or foundation shall be two feet in thickness. The first story shall be twenty-one inches in thickness, the second, third and fourth stories shall be sixteen inches in thickness, and the fifth and sixth stories shall be twelve inches in thickness. For a seven-story building the basement or foundation shall be two feet four inches in thickness. The first story shall be two feet in thickness, the second story shall be twenty-one inches in thickness, the third, fourth and fifth stories shall be sixteen inches in thickness, and the sixth and seventh stories shall be twelve inches in thickness.

In all stores, warehouses or factories over twenty-five feet wide, if there are no brick partition walls or girders supported on iron or wooden columns, or piers of masonry, the partition walls or girders shall be so placed as not to exceed twenty-seven feet apart, and in case iron or wooden girders are substituted for partition walls, the building may be eighty-five feet wide between the brick walls, but no more; and the iron or wooden columns or piers of masonry and girders shall be of sufficient strength to bear safely the weight to be carried upon them, and in no case shall it be less than two hundred and fifty pounds to the foot (superficial) of the floors that may rest upon them, exclusive of the weight of the material employed in their construction, and shall have footing courses and foundation walls of the thickness required in section four, with inverted arches between each column, or not less than two footing courses of large, well-shaped stones laid crosswise, edge to edge, and not less than twelve inches in thickness in each course; and the pier above shall be built up with brick or stone, properly bonded to the height required, to receive a cap-stone of cut granite, not less than twelve inches in thickness, and not less than twelve inches wider each way than the size of the post, pillar or column placed upon it; and said cap is to be set solid to receive the same; and all foundations shall be increased under the posts, pillars or columns, in proportion to the height of the building, post, pillar or column placed upon it. In all buildings hereafter erected on a street corner the bearing wall, that is, the outside wall upon which the beams rest, shall in all cases be four inches thicker than is otherwise provided for in this Order, and where the joists or timbers rest upon a front or rear wall in any case, the said walls shall be four inches thicker than is otherwise provided in this Order.

All brick buildings that are one hundred feet or more in depth, without cross walls or proper piers, shall have the side or bearing walls increased four inches in thickness more than is provided for in Sections 7 and 8 of [this] Order 1,752, where the specified thickness of the wall is twelve inches in thickness. Piers may be used for the same purpose, and they shall project at least four inches from the face of the walls and shall have an aggregate length of not less than one-fourth of the depth of the building. Cross walls are to be understood as interior walls, and may be four inches less in thickness than bearing walls of the same story, but must not be less than twelve inches in thickness. And all the walls of every building shall be erected straight and plumb, and during the process of erection or alteration, shall be strongly braced from the beams of each story until the building is enclosed. And every temporary support placed under any structure or part thereof shall be equal in strength to the permanent support thereof. (As amended March 3, 1884, by Order No. 1,760.)

[Thickness of Walls of Churches, Theaters, Foundries, Machine Shops, School Houses, and Places of Public Assembly, and other Buildings of a Public Character.]

SECTION 9. The outer walls of churches, theaters, foundries, machine shops, school houses and other buildings of a public character shall in no case be less than specified in Section 8 for warehouses and stores, and shall have in addition thereto such piers or buttresses as may be in the judgment of the Board of Fire Wardens necessary to make a substantial building. In all walls that are built hollow, the same amount of material shall be used in their construction as if they were solid, and no hollow wall shall be built unless the two walls are connected by proper ties either of brick or galvanized iron straps placed not over 20 inches apart, and of a proper stiffness.

No recess for water or other pipes shall be made in a 16-inch party wall, nor in any other wall more than one quarter of its thickness; and the recess around said pipe or pipes shall be filled up solid for the space of two feet on the top and bottom of each story to prevent the passage of fire or smoke. The hight of walls and buildings shall be computed from the curb level to the top of the highest point of the wall or building, exclusive of chimneys; the width of buildings shall be computed by the way the beams are placed; the lengthwise of the beams shall be considered and taken to be the widthwise of the building; bearing walls shall be those walls on which the beams, trusses or girders rest. No portion of the brick walls shall be carried up higher than the other portions more than one story in hight, and then it shall be securely anchored to the other portions at distances not to exceed six feet in hight, and the work shall be racked back not less than six feet for the purpose of securely bonding the work.

[Hights of Foundations and Stories.]

SECTION 10. The hights of foundations shall be that portion of the structure below the line of the curb of the street, in front of the center of the front line of the building, and the hights of the several stories shall be computed from the level of the surface of the floor to the line of the ceiling above—measured at the wall line—and shall be for a one-story building not more than 16 feet in hight, and for a two-story building the hight of the first story shall not exceed 16 feet in height, and the second story shall not exceed 14 feet in height; for a three-story building the first story shall not exceed 17 feet in height, the second story shall not exceed 14 feet in height, the third story shall not exceed 12 feet in height; and for a four-story building the first story shall not exceed 18 feet in height, the second story shall not exceed 14 feet in height, the third story shall not exceed 13 feet in height and the fourth story shall not exceed 11 feet in height; for a five-story building the first story shall not exceed 20 feet in height, the second story shall not exceed 15 feet in height, the third story shall not exceed 13 feet in height, and the fourth story shall not exceed 12 feet in height, and the fifth story shall not exceed 11 feet in height; and for a six-story building the first story shall not exceed 22 feet in height, the second story shall not exceed 16 feet in height, the third story shall not exceed 13 feet in height, and the fourth story shall not exceed 12 feet in height, and the fifth story shall not exceed 11 feet in height, and the sixth story shall not exceed 10 feet in height; for a seven-story building the first story shall not exceed 22 feet in height, the second story shall not exceed 16 feet in height, the third story shall not exceed 15 feet in height, the fourth story shall not exceed 14 feet in height, the fifth story shall not exceed 12 feet in height, the sixth story shall not exceed 11 feet in height, and the seventh story shall not exceed 10 feet in height.

It shall be lawful to vary these heights when the same thickness of wall is used for both stories—that is, one story may be made higher and the other story must be made as much lower.

If any increase in the height of stories other than those herein mentioned shall be made, the walls shall be strengthened either by piers, buttresses or columns, so placed as not to exceed 12 feet from centers. All foundation walls shall be four inches thicker than the walls next above them, for a depth of 16 feet below the curb level, and shall be increased four inches in thickness for every five feet or part thereof below that depth.

[Construction of Theaters, Opera Houses, Concert Halls, or other Buildings intended to be used for the above Purposes, or for any other Public Entertainment—hereafter to be Erected, Altered or Changed.]

SECTION 11. Every theater, opera house, concert hall, or building to be used for public entertainment hereafter erected, altered or changed shall have at least one front on the highway or public street, and in front there shall be suitable means of entrance and exit for the audience. An open space shall be reserved for the use of the audience in leaving the building, and for service in the event of fire, to be on three sides of the portion of the structure in which the auditorium and stage are placed. The said space shall not average less than ten (10) feet in width for places accommodating one thousand (1,000) persons, and it shall have outlets on the highway or public street aggregating not less than twenty (20) feet in width, and proper outlets shall be provided for the stage. For all buildings enumerated above the outlets and space shall be in proportion to the number of persons accommodated, but in no case shall the outlets be less than on an aggregate of sixteen (16) feet in width to the highway or public street. The above-mentioned space and outlets shall be kept free from any obstruction whatever. No portion of any building hereafter erected, altered, changed or used, or to be used for any of the above purposes shall be occupied or used as a hotel, boarding or lodging house, factory, or for storage purposes, unless the same is completely isolated by brick walls, which shall pass up and through the roof at least four (4) feet; and no workshop or storage room for theatrical purposes shall be allowed above either the stage or the auditorium. Carpenter shops and property room for the storage of furniture and other accessories may be provided for on the premises, in which case they shall be separate from the other portions of the theater by means of fire-proof partitions and ceilings; the painted scenery and other decorations may be stored in a contiguous store-room, but they shall be enclosed with fire-proof partitions, ceilings and floors; and no place in the building shall be let for the storage or sale of any article classified by Insurance Companies as hazardous or extra-hazardous material. The roof of the building shall be divided by means of fire-proof partitions into compartments not more than twenty-five feet in length, by the full width of the building, and said partitions shall extend from the ceiling to the underside of the sheathing of the roof, and proper doorways shall be placed in the center of each partition with a self-closing iron door, or a wooden door covered with iron, and there shall be a substantial passage-way from front to rear of said roof for the convenience of firemen, and shall have substantial railings at each side. All ventilator shafts from the ceiling line shall be of fire-proof material, and shall pass at least four (4) feet above the roof. The roof over the stage shall have skylights equal in area to one quarter of said roof, and the whole shall be so arranged as to open instantly on the cutting or burning of a hempen cord, which shall be arranged to hold said skylight closed, or some other device in the judgment of the Board of Fire Wardens may be used if equally simple. All stage scenery or decorations made of combustible material, and all woodwork about the stage shall be saturated with some incombustible preparation or material, or otherwise rendered safe against fire, to the satisfaction of the Board of Fire Wardens. All seats in the auditorium except those contained in the boxes, shall be firmly secured to the floors, and no seat in the auditorium shall have more than six (6) seats intervening between it and an aisle, and no camp-stools or other obstruction shall be placed in any aisle or passage-way. All aisles in the auditorium shall have at least a width of twenty (20) inches for every one hundred persons or parts thereof, to be provided for; and no aisle or passage way shall be less than three feet six inches at the narrowest points, and shall be increased in width to the point of exit, at least one inch for every five running feet or part thereof. Every doorway communicating between the aisles and passage-ways in the auditorium, and any lobby or corridor, shall have a clear opening of not less than the full width of the aisles and passage-ways leading to such doorway, and each door shall open outwardly. The aggregate capacity of the lobbies, corridors, passages and rooms for the use of the audience must on each floor or gallery be sufficient to contain the entire number to be accommodated on said floor or gallery in the following ratio, viz.: two hundred and fifty superficial feet of floor room is to be allowed for every one hundred persons. Every theatre, concert hall, opera house or other building used for any public entertainment accommodating three hundred persons shall have not less than two exits; when accommodating five hundred persons at least three exits shall be provided, and no doorway of exit or entrance for the use of the public shall be less than six feet in width; and for every one hundred persons additional, or portions thereof, to be accommodated, in excess of five hundred persons twenty inches additional width shall be allowed; all doors of exit or entrance shall open outwardly, and no such doors shall be closed or locked during any representation, or when the building is open to the public. When straight stairs return directly upon themselves, a landing of the full width of both flights, and of the depth of not less than once and a half the length of the steps shall be provided. Stairs turning at an angle must have a proper landing without risers at the turn. In stairs where two side flights connect with one main flight, no winders shall be introduced, and the width of the main flight must be equal to the aggregate width of the side flights. Circular or winding stairs shall have proper landings introduced at convenient distances. The ceilings of the auditorium and of the lobbies and staircases shall be lathed with iron laths, and finished with three good coats of mortar. All enclosed passages, corridors and staircases shall have on both sides a strong hand rail, firmly secured to the walls, three inches distant therefrom, and not less than three feet above the floor or stairs, and no passage leading to any stairs or Gas mains supplying any of the above-named places shall have independent connections from the stage and auditorium, and proper provisions shall be made for cutting or shutting off the gas from the outside contiguous to the premises. All stage lights shall have strong metal wire guards or screens of sufficient fineness [so] that any materials coming in contact therewith shall not be in danger from the flame. In some conspicuous place on every gallery or floor, the regulations for the protection of the public against fire or accident shall be posted, together with a diagram or plan of the gallery or floor, showing distinctly the mode of exit therefrom. And every exit shall have over the same on the inside the word EXIT, painted in large letters not less than eight inches in length. The mortar used for the brickwork shall be formed with hydraulic cement four parts, quick-lime one part, and sharp sand two parts. If the bulkhead or retaining wall is near the street line, the foundations shall be at least four feet below the grade of the street.

[Embankment or Retaining Walls.—Bulkhead or Area Walls and Fence defined.]

Embankment or retaining walls shall be understood as structures of brick or stone, or brick and stone, or concrete, erected for the purpose of sustaining the pressure of earth, sand, or filling or backing, and they shall be constructed in conformity with the rules given by Trautwine, or other treatises or authors now or hereafter used at the United States Academy at West Point for such work. Bulkhead or area walls shall be those walls usually erected in connection with buildings, for the purpose of sustaining sidewalks or yards, and are to be covered or arched over. Fence walls shall not be less than twelve inches in thickness for a height of eight feet, and shall be increased four inches more in thickness for every four feet or part thereof of additional height. (As amended March 3, 1884, by Order 1,760.)

[Stone Walls, Headers, Brick Walls, how Constructed—Walls faced with Ashlar—Heading Courses.]

SECTION 15. All stone walls less than twenty-four inches thick shall have at least one header extending through the wall in every six square feet, and, if over twenty-four inches in thickness, shall have one header for every six superficial feet on both sides of the wall and running into the wall at least two feet. In every brick wall every fifth course of bricks shall be a heading course, except where walls are faced with pressed brick, in which case every fifth course shall be bonded into the backing by cutting the courses of the faced brick and putting in diagonal headers behind the same, or by splitting face brick in half and backing the same by a continuous row of headers. In all walls which are faced with thin ashlar, anchored to the backing, or in which the ashlar has not either alternate headers and stretchers in each course, or alternately heading and stretching courses, the backing of brick shall not be less than eight inches thick, and all eight-inch backing shall be laid up in cement mortar, and shall not be built to greater height than prescribed for eight-inch walls. All heading courses shall be good, hard, perfect brick.

The front, rear, side, end, and party walls shall, if not carried up together, be anchored to each other every six feet in their height by tie anchors made of one and three-quarter inch by three-eighths of an inch wrought iron. The said anchors shall be built into the full thickness of the front and rear walls, and shall have flat heads not less than eight inches in diameter on the outside of said walls, so as to secure the front and rear walls to the side, end or party walls; and all stone used for the facing of any building, except where built with alternate headers and stretchers, as hereinbefore set forth, shall be strongly anchored with iron anchors, and all such anchors shall be let into the stone at least one inch. The sides, front, and rear and party walls shall be anchored to each tier of beams at intervals of not more than eight feet, with good, strong wrought iron anchors, three-eighths by one and one-half inches, built in not less than two-thirds of the thickness of the side walls, and have the ends turned down into the joists and securely spiked thereto, and where the beams are supported by girders the ends of the beams resting on the girder shall be strapped by wrought iron straps of the same size, and at the same distance apart, and in the same beams as the wall anchors. All wall anchors used in any building shall be not less than three-eighths by one and one-half inches wrought iron, not less than three feet six inches in length, turned down into the joist or back tie, and shall have a flat head of either wrought or cast iron not less than six inches square, riveted on.

[Timbers near Flues, how Placed—Beams in Party Walls, how Separated, etc.—Wall Strips. Bond Timbers and Lintels—Bond Timbers, Size and how Laid.]

SECTION 17. In no building, whether the same be a frame building or otherwise, shall any wooden beams or timbers be placed within six inches of any flue, whether the same be a smoke, air or any other flue. All wooden beams or other timbers in the party wall of every building hereafter erected or built of stone, or brick or iron, shall be separated from the beam or timber entering in the opposite side of the wall by not less than four inches of solid mason work, and every beam, joist or bearing timber shall rest at least four inches in the wall or on the girder, as authorized by this Order, exclusive of any corbel or projection from the wall. No timber shall be used in any wall of any building where stone, brick or iron is commonly used, except wall plates to receive the roof, bond timbers and lintels, as provided in this Order. No bond timber shall exceed four inches in width and three feet in length. They shall be laid horizontal, and there shall be eighteen inches of solid mason work between them. In all buildings of brick or stone the ends of the joists shall be cut with a bevel of not less than three inches. Every trimmer or header more than six feet long used in any building except a dwelling house shall be hung in stirrup irons of wrought iron of a proper thickness and width for the size of the timbers; and all girders, trimmers and tie-beams, and other principal framing timbers, shall rest at least eight inches on the walls or girders. In all buildings in which the joists exceed ten inches in depth there shall be a row of solid bridging set in and securely nailed; said line of bridging shall not exceed twenty-five feet apart, and shall not be less than two inches in thickness, so as to prevent the passage of fire or smoke.

[Stud Partitions, how to be Constructed.]

Stud partitions in brick or stone buildings, or brick and stone buildings, shall have two rows of solid bridging, not less than two inches in thickness, to finish flush on both sides of the studs of each story; and when the partitions are formed with more than one row of studding, or are cross-furred, the bridging shall finish flush with the face of the studs or furring at each side, so as to effectually prevent the passage of fire or smoke. Furring against brick walls shall not exceed one inch in thickness, and no wedges of wood or iron, or spikes or nails shall be driven into walls within eight inches of any flue or fire-place; and when chimney-breasts are furred out and the flues are of less width than the chimney-breast, the space between the furring and the flue shall be so bridged at each half-story and at the ceiling line as to prevent the passage of fire or smoke. (As amended March 3, 1884, by Order 1,760.)

[Iron Doors and Shutters.]

SECTION 18. All owners, occupants or the person or persons having control of any building on which iron shutters are placed, shall leave all such iron shutters above the first story open and fitted so as the firemen can readily close them when needed to protect the building from fire. All iron doors and shutters to openings on the first story of any building shall be hung on hinges, and the locks shall be so arranged as to admit of easy destruction by the Fire Department or Fire Patrol; provided, that all iron doors and shutters shall be securely fastened in the wall, or be hung to an iron frame. This shall apply to all iron doors or shutters in the front, on the sides, or in the rear of a building, and in no case shall all the iron doors or shutters of a building be fastened from the inside; but at least one of such doors in the front, on the side and in the rear shall be fastened with a lock, as above prescribed. (As amended April 15, 1884, by Order 1,768.)

[Boiler Rooms.]

SECTION 19. All boiler rooms or boiler houses hereafter constructed shall be built of brick, stone or iron, and shall be so arranged that all openings between said boiler room or house and other parts of the building in which it is placed shall be closed by iron doors or wood covered on both sides with metal. And if the boiler is set within any building either of brick, stone, iron or wood, it shall be isolated from the other portions of the building by fire-proof partitions with doors as above provided for. And no boiler shall be set above the first floor of any building unless the foundation for the same shall start from the ground, or it may be supported on wrought iron girders or beams built into the brick walls. No gas engine exceeding four horse power shall be set above the basement floor of any building.

Openings for Doors and Windows to have Arch of Stone and Brick—Hight and Breadth of Lintels, and of what Constructed.]

SECTION 20. All openings for doors and windows in all buildings except as otherwise provided, shall have a good and sufficient arch of stone or brick, well built and keyed, and with good and sufficient abutments, or a lintel, stone or iron, as follows: For an opening of not more than four feet in breadth, the lintel shall not be less than eight inches in hight, and for an opening not more than five feet in breadth the lintel shall be twelve inches in hight, and for an opening exceeding five feet in breadth the lintel shall increase in hight—over and above the twelve inches before provided—one inch for every additional foot in breadth for the opening; and every such opening less than five feet in breadth in all walls over eight inches in thickness shall have a lintel of stone or iron not less than seven inches in breadth, and one-third the thickness of the wall on which it rests, and in all openings aforesaid in any eight-inch wall, the lintel shall be one-half the thickness of the wall; and on the inside of all openings in which the lintel shall be less than the width of the wall, there shall be a good timber lintel on the inside of the lintels, which shall rest on each end not more than four inches on any wall, column, post or pillar, and shall be chamfered at each end and shall have a double rollock arch over the said lintel, or the said arch may be turned on a center which may be struck after the arch is turned, provided the piers or abutments are of sufficient strength to bear the thrust of the arch; and all arches over openings or fireplaces shall be built of good hard brick and well keyed. All iron lintels used to span openings of six feet wide or over, upon which a brick or stone wall rests, shall have a bearing of not less than twelve inches at each end resting on the wall, or four inches if resting on an iron post, by the full thickness of the wall or post; if the span exceeds twelve feet the bearings must be increased in proportion. On the front of any building where the supports are of iron or stone, they shall not be less than twelve inches on the face when situated at the end of a girder, and in no case shall they be less than the thickness of the wall above them. If the posts are to be party posts in front of a party wall and are to be used for two buildings, then the said posts shall not be less than sixteen inches by the thickness of the wall above, and if the party wall shall be more than sixteen inches then the face of the posts shall be the full width of the wall. When lintels or girders rest upon brick walls or piers they shall rest upon cut granite blocks twelve inches thick by eighteen inches long by the full thickness of the wall or pier, or upon iron plates of equal strength of the same width and length; and in all cases where the girder carries a wall and rests upon brick piers the bearing shall be sufficient to carry the weight above with safety; and cast iron lintels or beams used to span openings exceeding eight feet in the clear of supports, and upon which a brick or stone wall rests, or which carries floor timbers, shall have top and bottom flanges and web or rib, and wrought iron tie rods to be properly secured to the heel or skew-back plates, which are to support a brick arch of such thickness as in the event of the iron being destroyed it shall be of sufficient strength to carry the superincumbent weight; and the bottom flange shall be covered with asbestos, plaster, cement or lime-mortar, or some equally fire-proof composition. If an arch girder is used it shall have double nuts at each end and the tie rods and soffit of the arch shall be covered with fire-proof composition as above mentioned. Wrought iron girders, if made of plate iron and of the box pattern, shall have proper diaphragms placed in them at distances not to exceed five feet apart, and the riveting shall be done hot and hammered to a proper conical head. The strength of the lintels shall be calculated by the rules mentioned in Section 3 of this Order, and the safe load shall not exceed one-fourth of the breaking load for cast iron; and for wrought iron the safe load shall not exceed one-third of the breaking load; and for columns, posts, pillars or other vertical supports, or for tie rods or tie beams subjected to a tensile strain, the safe load shall not exceed one-sixth of the breaking load, and where subject to vibration the safe load shall not exceed one-eighth the breaking load. All columns which are placed as the main supports of a wall or part thereof, whether the same shall be interior walls or exterior walls, excepting a wall fronting on a street, shall be constructed double, that is, an outside and inside column, the latter to be of sufficient strength to carry the entire weight imposed, or a column having inner webs of sufficient strength to carry the weight imposed, independent of the outer column, may be used, as the Fire Wardens may certify as being proper to resist fire. No post, or pillar, or column shall be used in any building having a less thickness of metal than three-quarters inch, and there shall be drilled through said posts or pillars one-quarter inch holes as the Fire Wardens may require to test the thickness of metal in the same. All iron posts in front of party walls shall be built up solid with masonry and made perfectly solid between post and wall to prevent the passage of fire or smoke. All iron posts or pillars shall have plates on top to prevent the passage of fire, and the tops and bottoms of all posts or pillars shall be turned true. Vault beams, lintels or girders bearing a sidewalk shall rest upon columns of stone, brick or iron, and shall be bolted thereto, and shall be of sufficient strength to bear upon each superficial foot of the sidewalk, exclusive of the weight of the material of which the sidewalk is composed, 400 pounds.

[Bricks to be used.]

SECTION 21. No swelled or refused brick shall be allowed in any wall or pier; and brick used in the construction, alteration or repairs of any building or part thereof, shall be good, hard, well-burned brick.

The mortar used in the construction, alteration or repairs of any building shall be composed of lime or cement, mixed with sand in the proportion of three (3) of sand to one (1) of lime and two (2) of sand to one (1) of cement; and no lime and sand mortar shall be used within twenty-four (24) hours after being mixed; and all walls or parts thereof below the curb level shall be laid in cement mortar in the proportion of one (1) of cement to two (2) of mortar. No inferior lime or cement shall be used; and all sand shall be clean, sharp grit, and free from loam, and all joints and all walls shall be entirely filled with mortar.

[Cornices.]

SECTION 23. No cornice, entablatures, belt courses or other ornamental projections of wood shall be placed on any brick building within the city and county. All exterior cornices, entablatures, belt courses and other projections of an ornamental character, to exceed 6 inches in height and 6 inches in projection, shall be constructed of some fire-proof material, if of iron to be riveted-together with rivets not more than 2 inches apart, and shall be supported on wrought iron brackets, built into the wall at distances not to exceed 2 feet apart; and in every instance, the greatest weight of stone, iron or other material of which they shall be composed, shall be on the inside of the outer line of the wall on which they may rest, in the proportion of 4 of wall to 2 of cornice in weight; allowance must be made for the excess of leverage produced by the projection of cornice beyond the face of the wall; all cornices shall be well secured to the wall with iron anchors, independent of any wood work, and in all cases the walls shall be carried up to the planking of the roof; and when the roof is below the cornice, then the walls shall be carried up to the top of the cornice or the blocking over the same, and shall be coped with some fire-proof material. All wooden cornices or gutters on brick buildings that are now, or may hereafter become unsafe, shall be taken down and re-constructed of some fire-proof material, upon an order from the Board of Fire Wardens.

[Building Brick over Wood.]

SECTION 24. No brick or stone wall shall be supported upon stringers of wood, and no stone or iron steps shall be set upon wooden carriages in any part of the city and county.

[Building of Additional Story or Repairs.]

SECTION 25. It shall be unlawful for any person to raise, build upon, or alter any building of brick or stone, or of both, unless said building has been built in conformity with the provisions of this Order, regulating the erection of brick buildings.

No building already erected or hereafter to be built in said city and county shall be enlarged, raised or built upon in such a manner, that were the said building wholly built or constructed after the passage of this Order it could be a violation of any of the provisions of this Order. And before any building of brick, stone, iron or wood shall be enlarged, raised, altered or built upon, the same shall be first examined by the Board of Fire Wardens, to ascertain if the same is in good condition to be enlarged, raised, altered or built upon, who shall certify to the safety of making said alterations. The Fire Wardens shall have full power in passing upon any question relating to the mode and manner of construction, or materials used in the erection, alterations or repairs of any building or other structure provided for in this Order, and to make the same conform to the true intent and meaning of the several provisions hereof. They shall have discretionary power to vary or modify the provisions of this Order upon application therefor in writing in all cases of alterations to old buildings, or the use of party walls belonging to different owners where the same cannot be taken down, and where there are practical difficulties in the way of carrying out the strict letter of this Order, so that the spirit of the Order is complied with, the public safety secured, and substantial justice done; but no such deviation shall be allowed except a record of the same be kept by the said Board of Fire Wardens, and a certificate issued to the party applying for the same.

[Walls to Extend above the Roof—Partition Walls carried up—Mansard or French Roof.]

SECTION 26. All side or party and front and rear walls of any building fifteen (15) feet high, or more, shall be built up and extend at least four (4) feet above the roof; provided, that where partition walls are carried up or where Mansard or French roofs are built over a hotel or block of houses, the partition and division walls shall be carried at least up four (4) feet above the roof, and the said roof shall be covered with such material as will afford protection against fire. And where a Mansard or French roof, or a roof having thirty degrees pitch or over, shall be placed on any brick building, within the fire limits, of two stories or more in height, the same shall be constructed as follows: The rafters shall not be less than four inches in thickness, and shall be covered with some fire-proof material on the outside and lathed with iron laths and finished with three good coats of the best lime-mortar on the inside. If there is a level platform over the sloping sides, then it shall be constructed in the same manner as before mentioned for the sloping portion, the sheathing to receive the fire-proof material shall first be painted with two good coats of the best fire-proof paint. The coverings of all steeples, towers and turrets within the fire limits shall be of fire-proof material.

[Bay or Oriel Windows—Swell Fronts.]

SECTION 27. No person shall build a bay or oriel window which shall project over the line of any street more than three feet, and not more than eight feet in width on the extreme lines, nor shall the bottom of such bay or oriel window be less than thirteen feet from the ground or sidewalk. The materials covering the exterior framework of such bay or oriel windows, constructed within the fire limits, shall be fire-proof. Provided, that no bay or oriel window shall be built upon any street, lane or alley which is less than thirty-five feet in width. No swell front shall be erected unless the walls are entirely of fire-proof material, and no bay or oriel window shall project from any swell front. If a bay window is two stories or more in height, the joists of each story shall be supported on iron lintels and the top of the opening shall be covered with a brick or stone arch. No bay window shall be erected on the corner or angle of any building, and where more than one bay window is erected on any front or side of a building, the piers or spaces between the bay windows shall not be less than six feet for a two-story building and not less than eight feet in width for a four-story building, and no bay window shall be erected to a greater height than four stories above the line of sidewalk. The lintels over the bay windows shall be the full width of the walls, and shall rest eight inches upon each pier or bearing.

[Smoke Pipes and Furnaces, how Guarded, etc.—Hot Air Registers, etc., how Set and Made.]

SECTION 28. No tin or other metal flue or flues, pipe or pipes, or register box or boxes of a single thickness of metal used or intended to be used to convey heated air in any building or buildings hereafter built, altered or repaired in any part of the city and county shall be allowed, unless the same is inclosed in a wall of brick or stone; in all other cases the said flue or flues pipe or pipes, register box or boxes, shall be made double, that is, of two pipes, one within the other, at least one-half an inch apart, and the space between the pipes shall be filled in with some fire-proof material, and no furring or lathing of wood shall be placed against any flue, metal pipe or pipes used to carry heated air, or steam, or water, in any building, and when any wall shall be furred or lathed with wood the space between the lathing and wall shall be filled with plaster at the top and bottom side of the floor beams of each story and the ceiling joist of the roof, so as to prevent the passage of fire. No steam pipes shall be placed closer to wood than three inches, and if said space is objectionable it shall be protected by a soap-stone or earthen ring or tube. In all cases where hot air, steam, hot water or other furnaces are hereafter placed in any building, due notice shall first be given to the Board of Fire Wardens by the owner or owners of his, her or their agents, or by the person or persons placing said furnace or furnaces in said building or buildings, or by the contractor for said work. No smoke pipe in any building with wooden or combustible floors and ceilings shall enter any flue, unless the said pipe shall be at least eighteen inches from either floors or ceilings, and in all cases where smoke pipes pass through wooden partitions of any kind, whether the same be plastered or not, they shall be guarded by either a double collar of metal with at least four inches air space and holes for ventilation, or by a soap-stone ring not less than three inches in thickness and extending through the partition, or by a solid coating of plaster of Paris, three inches thick, or by an earthenware ring, three inches from the pipe. In all cases where hot water, steam, hot air or other furnaces are used, the furnace smoke pipe must be kept at least two feet below the beams or ceilings above the same, unless said beams or ceilings shall be properly protected by a shield of tin plate suspended above said smoke pipe with sufficient space for the free circulation of air above and below said shield, and the smoke pipe shall, in all cases, be kept at least eight inches from the beams or ceilings as aforesaid, and the top of all furnaces set in brick must be covered with brick, slate or tin plate, supported by iron bars and so constructed as to be perfectly tight; said covering to be in addition to, and not less than six inches from the ordinary covering to the hot-air chamber. If, however, there is not hight enough to build the furnace top at least four inches below the floor beams or ceiling, then the floor beams must be trimmed around the furnace, and said covering and trimmers, and headers, must be at least four inches from the same. The top of portable furnace or furnaces not set in brick shall be kept at least one foot below the beams or ceiling with a shield of tin plate, made tight and suspended below the said beams or ceiling, and extend one foot beyond the top of the furnace on all sides. All hot-air registers hereafter placed in the floor of any building shall be set in soap-stone borders, not less than two inches in width. All soapstone borders shall be firmly set in plaster of Paris, or gauged mortar; all floor register boxes shall be made of tin plate, with a flange on the top, to fit the groove in soap-stone, the register to rest upon the same. There shall also be an open space of two inches on all sides of the register box, extending from the under side of the ceiling, below the register, to the soapstone in the floor, the outside of the said space to be covered with a casing of tin plate, made tight on all sides, and shall extend from the under side of the aforesaid ceiling up to and turn under the said soapstone. Registers, twelve by nineteen inches, or less than fifteen by twenty-five inches, shall have a space of three inches between register box and casing; registers of fifteen by twenty-five and more inches shall have a space of three and a half inches.

[Removal of Buildings in Fire Limits.]

SECTION 29. No building within the fire limit blocks shall be removed without the written permission of the Superintendent of Public Streets and Highways and the Chairman of the Committee on Fire Department of the Board of Supervisors, and such permission shall not be given except to remove a building or buildings to any portion of the same lot on which it or they may stand to make room for more permanent improvements, (the meaning of the words "for more permanent improvements" means brick or stone), or for the removal of wooden buildings from within the fire limits to any part of the city outside of said limits, in which latter case the party or parties making application for such privilege shall give security to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Public Streets, Highways and Squares that they will leave the street or streets over which said building or buildings shall be moved in as good order as they were before such removal, and that they will make such removal continuous, day by day, until completed, with the least possible obstruction to the thoroughfares thus occupied, and that they will keep a watchman in or around each building from sundown to sunrise continuously during the time of such removal, and the said removal shall be subject to the control and direction of the Superintendent of Public Streets, Highways and Squares, who may prescribe the mode and route of said removal, and notice of said removal shall be left at the office of said Superintendent and the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department; provided, that no frame building shall be moved from its present location unless said building is worth at least fifty (50) per cent. of what it would cost to construct such building of new material, and that, in case of dispute as to valuation between the owner and the Fire Wardens, said dispute shall be determined by arbitration of competent mechanics, the owner to select one arbitrator, the Fire Wardens the other, and, in case the arbitrators cannot agree they shall call in the third, and their decision shall be final; all expenses of the arbitration to be paid by the owner.

[Chimneys, Construction of—Flues in Brick Walls.]

SECTION 30. All buildings now erected, or which may hereafter be erected or altered or changed within the following limits, to wit: East of Gough and Valencia streets, north of Twenty-sixth street, west of Potrero avenue and north of Sixteenth street, where fire is to be or may be used, shall have chimneys of either brick or stone attached to them. In lieu of either brick or stone all said buildings now erected or hereafter to be erected or altered or changed within the limits herein designated, may have any kinds of chimneys for which U. S. patents shall have been issued, on filing with the Board of Supervisors copies of the letters patent therefor, and of the specifications thereto, certified by the United States Commissioner of Patents, and procuring the consent in writing of the Mayor, and the consent of the Board of Fire Wardens; provided, that no patent chimney shall be placed or attached to any building, unless the name of the patentee and the date of the letters patent shall be stamped on each chimney, so that the same can be readily seen. The owner or owners, or the person or persons having control of any building or buildings, now erected within the above described limits, which have stovepipes projecting through the roof, or out of the side, and wherein fire is used, are hereby required to build flues or chimneys of brick or stone in said building or buildings. All stovepipes now in use projecting through the roof or out of the side of any building shall be removed by the owner or owners, or the person or persons having control thereof; provided, that whenever chimneys of either brick or stone are used or attached to buildings, the same shall commence on the ground and be carried up at least four feet above the extreme height of the building to which they are attached; and should such chimney be deemed unsafe to the building or buildings adjoining by any of the Fire Wardens, they shall be carried up at least four feet above the extreme height of said building or buildings adjoining. All chimneys in frame buildings shall be built so as not to increase in size from the foundation. When flues are built in brick walls, the same shall be carried up at least two feet above the top of the fire wall, and subject to the same rule as the chimneys, and no flue or chimney shall have any joist or timber resting on or entering in the same, further than will leave at least six inches between the end thereof and the inside of the chimney or flue. All patent chimneys standing on the floor of a building must be set on an iron plate $\frac{1}{4}$ of an inch thick, well secured to the floor. There must be an opening near the bottom of the chimney for the purpose of cleaning the same, with a cover to fit the opening, the cover to be smoke tight, all the joints to be cemented, and when bands are used, they must be filled with cement or Plaster of Paris, so as to make them smoke and spark tight. When galvanized iron is used for bands or for the outside of the chimney, it shall be of the best of No. 24 iron, and the same riveted together, the rivets to be not more than three inches apart; all seams and joints to be made smoke tight. When fire places are built in the floor, they must be set on an iron plate, or suspended by wrought iron stirrups and crossbars or iron plates of sufficient strength to sustain the fire-place and chimney.

No patent chimney shall be less than one and one-half inches from the wood work; the opening in the roof shall be covered with a cast iron plate or of some other fire-proof material. No patent chimney on the inside or the outside of a building shall be fastened to the laths or the siding of the building, but shall be securely fastened to the studding or cross pieces with good iron straps or rods, and in no case shall such patent chimney be suspended to any roof timber or floor beam, but shall be built from the floor up and be put up solidly and of good sound material, in a workmanlike manner. Every chimney or flue shall be pargeted on the inside with good parging mortar, or the joints shall be struck smooth on the inside and outside.

No person shall kindle or maintain any fire of charcoal, wood or other combustible material, in or upon any open tin, metal can, or any earthenware vessel whatsoever in any room, entry or passage or in any other part of any house in this city and county; or in any furnace or stove of any kind unless the same be connected by means of a good sheet iron flue or pipe, with a brick or earthen pipe chimney, to conduct the smoke and fire into said brick or earthen pipe chimney.

Provided, however, that the provisions of this Order shall not be deemed to apply to portable stoves, furnaces or lamps used by artisans in the prosecution of their regular and lawful business, or to properly-constructed kerosine, gasoline or gas stoves used for cooking purposes or for the heating of chambers.

[Size of Chimneys and Flues, Woodwork, how placed near Flues.]

SECTION 31. No smoke flues of brick shall be less than eight by eight inches in the clear; for a two-story building with two inlets the flues shall be eight by twelve inches in the clear; and for a three-story building the flues shall be eight by sixteen inches in the clear; for a bakery the oven flues shall be not less than twelve by twelve inches in the clear; and for factories the flues shall be in proper proportion to the fire or grate surface. All furnaces and bake oven flues shall have the sides, back and front of brickwork not less than eight inches in thickness, or such flues may be built of fire clay or iron pipe set in fire clay mortar; provided, said pipe shall have not less than one inch of an air space and four inches of brickwork around it. All boiler flues shall be lined with four inches of fire brick laid in fire clay to the height of fifteen feet or to the top of the second story joist floor beams; and no flue shall be used as a furnace or boiler flue unless the same conform to the requirements of this Section, unless the same is used as such before the passage of this Order, and all such flues, if out of order or dangerous shall be made safe in the manner herein specified. In no building, whether the same be a frame building or otherwise, shall any woodwork be placed on or in a wall within eight inches of any flue, whether the same be a smoke, air or other flue, nor shall any timber be placed under any fireplace or hearthstone, nor shall any wainscoting, base, furring, heading or any other woodwork be placed against any smoke flue unless there is at least eight inches of solid brickwork between it and the flue.

No furnace shall be constructed for the purpose of operating any engine or boiler, or in connection with any manufacturing industry within this city and county, unless the same shall be built so as to consume the smoke generated therefrom, and effectually prevent the same from becoming a nuisance to the surrounding neighborhood. And all furnaces heretofore constructed within this city and county which are not so built, shall, within a period of thirty days from the passage of this Order, be so altered and arranged as to insure the consuming of all smoke arising therefrom; otherwise the permission granted by this Board for the construction and maintenance of the same will become null and void. And any person maintaining or operating such furnace or furnaces, after said period of thirty days from and after the passage of this Order, unless the smoke arising therefrom shall be consumed, shall, in addition to the forfeiture of their privilege to maintain the same, be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and shall on conviction be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

—OF—

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

[Adopted July 10th, 1883.]

PLUMBING AND DRAINAGE.

In pursuance of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to grant to Boards of Health in cities and cities and counties the power to regulate the plumbing and drainage of buildings," approved March 15, 1883, the Board of Health of the City and County of San Francisco has adopted the following rules and regulations, to take effect August 1st, 1883.

1. All material must be of good quality, and free from defects. The work must be executed in a thorough, workmanlike manner.

2. The arrangement of soil and waste pipes must be as direct as possible. The drain, soil and waste pipes, and the traps, should be exposed to view for ready inspection at all times, and for convenience in repairing.

3. Every house or building must be connected with the street sewer by a cast-iron or iron-stone pipe extending out to the line of the street, and, in the case of buildings erected on the line of street, said cast-iron pipe shall extend three feet beyond the front walls or any area wall. From the points above designated to the street sewer, the drain shall be continued either by the above-mentioned cast-iron pipe or by a vitrified iron-stone pipe laid at a uniform grade from the street sewer to the point of juncture with the cast-iron pipe. All joints on said iron-stone pipe shall be made with Portland cement, and each joint of pipe when laid must be properly cleaned on the inside by a suitable scraper before the succeeding pipe is put in place. All joints on a cast-iron pipe shall be made with a suitable packing of hemp or oakum, and run full with molten lead and properly caulked.

4. Every house or building hereafter erected must have the house drain constructed of cast iron where it lies under the building; but when the house drain is outside the building lines, or where there is an open space under the house of four (4) feet clear in height, it may be of iron-stone pipe. The house drain must have a fall of at least one quarter of an inch to the foot; it should run along the cellar wall where practicable, or if laid under the lower floor of a building should be hung in iron straps securely fastened to the floor joists; it should be laid in as straight a line as possible. All changes in direction must be made with curved pipes, and all connections with Y branches and one-eighth bends, with a trap placed under the sidewalk, and have a curbed casing, so as to be easy of access at all times. The trap must be provided with a fresh air inlet on the house side of the water seal, of at least four inches in diameter, leading to the outer air. No brick, sheet metal or earthenware flue shall be used as a sewer ventilator, nor shall any chimney flue be used for this purpose.

5. Every soil pipe shall be of cast-iron; waste pipes shall be of cast-iron, wrought iron or lead.

6. All cast-iron pipe and fittings must be coated both inside and outside with coal-tar pitch, applied hot; or some other equivalent substance.

7. All iron soil or waste pipes, before being covered up, must have all openings stopped, and be filled with water and allowed to stand until inspected and approved. All connections of lead with iron pipe, must be made with a brass ferrule of the same size as the lead pipe, and caulked into the iron pipe and connected to the lead pipe by a wiped joint. All connections of lead pipe should be wiped joints.

8. Every water-closet, sink, basin, bath or set of wash trays or other vessel connected with the drain pipes, must be separately and effectively trapped. The traps must be placed as near the fixtures as practicable.

9. Traps must be protected from syphonage by special air pipes of lead, wrought iron, or cast iron, not less than the size of waste pipes, and, if to supply air to traps of water-closets, not less than two inches in diameter, if for a single closet and the length does not exceed fifteen feet. These pipes must extend two feet above the highest point of roof or coping, or they may be branched into the soil pipe three feet above the highest fixture, they may be combined by branching together those which serve several traps. These air pipes must always have a continuous slope, to avoid collecting water by condensation.

10. Every safe under a basin, bath, urinal, water-closet, tank, or other fixture, must be drained by a special pipe of lead or wrought iron, not directly connected with any soil, waste pipe, drain or sewer, but made to discharge outside the house.

11. Rainwater leaders must never be used as soil, waste or vent pipes, nor shall any soil, waste or vent pipes be used as a rainwater leader. All leaders from points below main roof must discharge into open trapped hoppers, or on the surface of the ground.

12. No steam exhaust will be allowed to connect with any drain, soil or waste pipe.

13. All waste pipes from all interior plumbing, exclusive of water-closets, shall discharge into an open trapped hopper, except where a building covers the entire width of the lot of ground.

14. Every line of waste and soil pipe must extend full bore to the ridge of the roof or two (2) feet above the fire walls. When not more than one water-closet on the basement and first floor of a building connect with a line of soil pipes, an air pipe of cast or wrought iron two (2) inches in diameter extending to the ridge of the roof, or two feet above fire walls, may be used.

15. All leaders, soil, waste and air pipes inside of buildings, before being covered up, must have all openings stopped up and be filled with water. The said test shall be made in the presence of the Inspector of Plumbing, and if satisfactory he shall issue a proper certificate.

16. All iron stone pipe-house drains, under houses, shall, after being laid, be allowed to remain uncovered until inspected by the Plumbing Inspector of the Board of Health.

17. On and after the first day of August, A. D. 1883, all plumbers doing business in the City and County of San Francisco shall register, pursuant to the provision of the Act of the Legislature, approved March 16, 1883, at the Office of the Board of Health.

18. Every master plumber, before he shall be allowed to be registered, shall give a bond to the State of California in the sum of five hundred dollars, with two good and sufficient sureties, for the faithful discharge of his duties as plumber; which said bond shall be approved by and filed with the Board of Health.

19. There shall be appointed by the Board of Health an Inspector of Plumbing and Drainage. He shall take and subscribe to an oath that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office, and shall, before entering upon his duties, execute a bond to the City and County of San Francisco in the sum of five thousand dollars, with two good and sufficient sureties, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and for the benefit of persons aggrieved by his acts or neglect. Said bond shall be approved by and filed with the Board of Health.

20. The salary of the Inspector shall be fixed at one hundred and twenty-five dollars per month.

Third. He shall examine all plans and the accompanying specifications; and if in accordance with the rules of the Board of Health, he shall issue a permit for the work to go on. Any plan or specification that in his judgment does not conform to the rules, shall be, by him, presented to the Health Officer, and if not then approved, they shall be returned to the parties presenting them, with a note explaining the corrections necessary to have them comply with the rules.

Fourth. Fifth. He must make a monthly report to the Board of Health, of the number of plans and specifications received; the number approved and rejected; also stating the number of first and final examinations made, and where and by whom the rules have been violated, and such other matter as may be required by the Board of Health.

Sixth. He shall, immediately, upon knowledge of any infraction of the rules, report the same to the Health Officer. (As amended September 20th, 1883, and February 21st, 1884.)
